

A-Blogging we will go getting virtual

Due to be up and running, with your first entry, and the URL emailed to me, by Sunday, 8.29.04 at 9 am.

If you already have a blog you want to use, you can skip the set-up steps below. Just email me the info.

- 1 Online, go to blogger.com or any other free blogging site.
- 2 Follow instructions to set up a blog for yourself. You can use your real name or an alias.
- 3 Email me your blog URL and include your real name so I can match the two up.
Wizmo@themeanmissbean.com
- 4 Make an entry in your blog each class day, the last five or ten minutes. This will be your class journal for the year. Please allow comments so I can communicate with you directly on your blog. Content can include any useful class-related material. Here are some examples:
 - What you did in class
 - Notes or writing
 - Questions you have for yourself or others
 - Anything you learned, or thought about in a different way
 - Things that impressed you about what someone else said or did or wrote
 - Things that you didn't agree with, or like, or that made you mad
 - Any words or phrases you especially liked
 - Cut and pasted work in progress
 - Your opinions
